- 123 Teachers trained on teaching methodologies
- 19 Parents groups formed and positively engaged in school and child protection activities
- Capacity of 92 members of child protection committees enhanced through regular sessions on community-based child protections mechanism.
- 3,019 Children participated in plantation activity

From a Child Bride to a Student: Nisha's Journey

Nisha was only 12 years old when she got married. It was an arranged marriage, and she had no say in the matter. Her life became one of domestic duties and child-rearing. At the tender age of just 14, she became a mother. Her days were filled with feeding, changing, and caring for her little one.

But deep down, Nisha always yearned for something more. She missed her studies and the friends she had made at school. She longed for the freedom to learn and explore the world beyond the four walls of her home. And so, when she heard about the Rimsha Community School, she knew she had to give it a try.

The school is being run by Sanjh Preet Organization under the Strengthening of Learning and Protection of Children Programme. It was a unique initiative that aimed to bring quality education to the doorstep of marginalized children like Nisha. The school was located just a few blocks away from her house, and the teachers were warm and welcoming.

Nisha was nervous at first, but as she sat in her classroom and listened to her teacher, her fears melted away. She was surrounded by children her own age, all eager to learn, and she felt a sense of belonging that she had never experienced before. The curriculum was challenging, but Nisha was determined to catch up on all the years of schooling she had missed.

Today, Nisha is a bright and curious 15-year-old, full of hope and ambition for the future. She knows that her journey is far from over, but with the help of the Rimsha Community School and the Strengthening of Learning and Protection of Children Programme, she is determined to reach her full potential and make a better life for herself and her family.

JICA-ALP Middle Tech Project- Nankana Sahib

The Project is being implemented in collaboration of Japan international cooperation Agency (JICA) with the purpose; to provide second chance of education to the girls who have left school after completing primary education due to any reason. Under the project, Allama Iqbal open University (AIU) registered 74 students (13 boys and 61 girls) with its distance learning programme, and would also certify them after conducting examination.

Learners learn through self-learning kit and they meet their teacher's minimum three times a week (face to face) to get further support, mentoring and assessment. Learning tablets have also been provided to a group of 5-6 learners as well as each teacher for learning and assessment.
